

The Rebellious Miss Breed: SDPL and the Japanese American Incarceration

☒ This fall, the Library is hosting a variety of weekly programs reflecting on Japanese American experiences during and post-World War II. LEARN MORE about this SDPL project and REGISTER for the upcoming programs (all age groups welcome, films, authors, & survivor talks) that will be presented September 2021 – January 2022, covering “The Rebellious Miss Breed and the Japanese American Incarcerations.”

Call to Serve: Clara E. Breed & the Japanese American Incarceration & the WW-II Japanese American Incarceration Camp Replica will be on view from September 18, 2021 to January 30, 2022 at the Central Library’s Art Gallery and Lobby. For information about the exhibitions, please visit On View: Art and Culture Exhibitions.