

Really Simple Syndication

Really Simple Syndication, a.k.a RSS, is a web format that easily allows you to broadcast information and publish frequently updated content. To read a RSS content can be read by using software called feed readers.

By subscribing to a feed you can get instant updates every time the feed is updated. When you see a logo like the one on the right, make sure to click on it and subscribe to read more about the San Carlos Friends of the Library!